

Public/Private Partnerships and New Models to Stimulate Innovation: Examples from Quebec and Massachusetts

On October 10th, 2013, the Governor of Massachusetts Deval Patrick was in Montreal to participate, together with CQDM, in the conference “Public/Private Partnerships and New Models to Stimulate Innovation: Examples from Quebec and Massachusetts”. Beyond an opportunity to exchange and network, this event allowed the participants present to reflect on the various issues and solutions to the challenge of innovation in the life sciences.
